PROFESSIONAL TRUCK DRIVERS:

If your travel plans include travelling through Denver, Colorado on October 3, 2012, please allow extra travel time through the Denver metropolitan area as the city is hosting a 2012 Presidential Debate.

TRANSPORTING HAZARDOUS MATERIALS:

If you're transporting placarded quantities of hazardous materials that are required to be routed under Colorado's hazardous materials routing regulations, you will need to be aware of the designation of alternative routes that will be in effect on October 3, 2012.

HAZARDOUS MATERIALS ROUTE RESTRICTIONS:

Due to the Presidential Debate, the following alternative temporary routes are established for hazardous materials and will be in effect on October 3, 2012. Quantities of hazardous materials that are required to be routed will be restricted from central Denver, except for the purposes of local pickup and delivery.

Through shipments of hazardous materials being transported by a motor vehicle in quantities that are required to be routed are restricted from travelling on:

- Southbound Interstate 25 from its junction with Interstate 70 to its junction with Interstate 225.
- Northbound Interstate 25 from its junction with Interstate 225 to its junction with Interstate 70.

ALTERNATIVE HAZARDOUS MATERIALS ROUTES:

Alternative 1 (East) (Through Shipments):

Northbound: I-225 to I-70 west to I-270 west to I-25.
Southbound: I-270 east to I-70 east to I-225 south to I-25.
